BRICKER RAPS BRITISH PRESS INTERFERENCE

Governor, in Capital, Charges Papers Take Sides in Presidential Election.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Gov. Bricker of Ohio, appearing before Washington correspondents at a news conference, sharply criticized today what he termed "interference" by a part of the British press in this country's presidential election.

The 50-year-old governor, an announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told 75 newsmen gathered in a hotel room he believed the United States ought to elect its own President without international interference. He had been asked to comment on a recent article in an English newspaper suggesting President Roosevelt be re-elected.

"I think we ought to elect our own president and it's none of their business," Bricker said, referring to the British press. "I think we ought to take care of that matter without outside interference."

Bricker, here for a Lincoln day speech tonight, answered quickly and freely a wide range of questions about domestic and foreign problems.

Describing the winning of the war as the most important single issue of the presidential campaign, Bricker said if the Republicans were successful there would be no interference with the present military command.

Critical of New Deal

He said that the war now is being waged "in a way in which every American should be proud."

Asked if President Roosevelt should not be credited for a part in the conduct of the war, Bricker said that was true.

"I differ, however, with the whole philosophy of the New Deal," he said. "I think it is sweeping up toward totalitarianism by breaking down local government and attempting to relegate congress to an inferior position. We have got to start the trend back the other way and the Republicans will do it."

Bricker expressed his views on other subjects as follows:

Service Vote—Favors state ballot, has no objection to federal ballot if it conforms to state law, plans to call legislature to revise Ohio laws after congress acts.

Taxes—Doesn't believe need for increasing taxes is so great as necessity for economy in government, with reduction in number of federal employes.

Foreign Policy—Favors definite form of cooperation with other nations to preserve future peace, stands on Republican Mackinac declaration until further developments.

Subsidies—Opposes consumer subsidies as unsound, believing they offer little chance of reducing prices and contending they only postpone "day of payment."

Labor Draft—Thinks time long past when universal service was necessary.

Post-War—Favors government encouragement of private enterprise to provide jobs, says states ready to inaugurate public works program, opposes federal [illegible]

U. S. BOMBERS HIT BRUNSWICK

Fortresses Make 450-Mile Trip To Blast Plants in Central Germany.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Feb. 10—U. S. heavy bombers today attacked targets at Brunswick in central Germany, army headquarters announced.

Fortresses flew the 450-mile path to the German aircraft manufacturing center, and the Berlin radio declares savage fighting developed.

Meanwhile Liberator bombers smothered the big Nazi fighter base at Gilze-Rijen, Holland, and strong forces of U. S. Marauders flew against military installations in northern France.

The Gilze-Rijen attack probably knocked out many enemy fighters which would have been in the air against the Brunswick-attacking Fortresses had the Dutch fighter base been left undisturbed.

No figures on planes shot down on the Brunswick attack, or on Fortress losses, were available immediately from the U. S. air force. On a trip Jan. 11 to Brunswick, Oschersleben and Halberstadt the Yank forces lost 60 heavy bombers but shot 152 Nazi fighters from the sky. The heavies went back to Brunswick and Hanover Jan. 30 and shot down 91 enemy aircraft while losing 20 bombers.

Site of Aircraft Plants

Several aircraft parts assembly plants are situated at Brunswick, including the Brunswick-Waggum Mello assembly factory which was hard hit previously. The city of about 200,000 persons was staggered with 2,000 long tons of bombs in 23 minutes during an RAF night attack Jan. 11, between the two previous American assaults.

The U. S. airforce now has con-

The Japanese development recalls the enemy's evacuation of Kiska in the Aleutians a step ahead of American assault forces came as allied ground troops moved on Madang from two directions, with American Sixth army patrols already some 15 miles south on the jungle-lined coast.

Rabaul, too, showed signs of lessening usefulness to the Japanese. Allied pilots who flew to the New Britain base for a pre-dawn attack Tuesday declared there were fewer ships in Simpson harbor than they had seen in months.

Two enemy craft were sighted and hit. One was a submarine which gave up an oil slick after being bombed from 50 feet. The other, a 1,000-ton vessel, was left burning. Torpedo and dive-bombers dropped 120 tons of explosive on two Rabaul airdromes and shot down 12 to 27 enemy fighter planes.

The American victory in the Marshalls campaign gets even brighter with disclosure that the U. S. destroyer Burns sank an entire convoy of four Japanese ships Jan. 31, the day Kwajalein island was invaded.

ALLIED TROOPS HOLD AT ANZIO

Patterson Reports Americans and British Firmly Entrenched.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson said today that although the greatest weight of the German counterattack on the allied beachhead at Anzio probably is still to be felt "our men are firmly established."

Patterson said the Germans have launched violent counterattacks, which were expected, and added that under the first of those assaults in force, "our troops yielded a small amount of ground but they have effectively warded off attacks, beaten back a number of enemy tanks and taken a number of prisoners."

"The enemy threat is not to be minimized," Patterson said at a press conference. "The Germans are opposing our beachhead with a formidable force, drawn partly from reserves that were behind the main southern front, to a lesser extent from the Rome area and partly from northern Italy.

Bring Up Tanks and Guns

"They have brought up tanks and a quantity of artillery. Even in the air, although they are not likely to challenge our superior power for long, they have concentrated additional planes in an effort to harass our beachhead. Their long-range artillery fire from inland hills extends as far as Anzio harbor."

During the past week, Patterson said, the Germans had the aid of bad weather which interfered with allied shipping and limited allied operations in the air.

On the main battle line south of Anzio, Patterson said units of the Fifth Army battering enemy positions around Cassino had encountered extremely stubborn and bitter resistance but that "slow-

STRIKE AT SIX POINTS; HEAVY FIGHTING RAGES

Fiercest Attack Made Against Northern Sector Held by British Troops.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Feb. 10—The Germans have launched a strong attempt to break through allied lines on the Anzio beachhead striking at six points along the American-British defense perimeter, headquarters announced today, as violent fighting continued in the ruins of Cassino.

The fiercest of the beachhead attacks came in the west north and west of Carroceto (Aprilia) where heavy fighting continued as British forces sought to stem the enemy plunge.

Three enemy thrusts directed against American positions west of Cisterna were beaten back and the doughboys recaptured some ground.

Allies on Defensive

Although the Americans seized the initiative in gaining some ground here, an allied headquarters spokesman said the position of the beachhead as a whole was a defensive one at present, with the Germans probing the perimeter from the northern coastal area to its southern extremity.

Allied air forces struck heavily at gun positions, communications and other targets but these apparently did not prevent the Germans from building up their strength. The violence of the German artillery fire was increasing and the pressure of the German attacks mounting.

The fighting at Cassino went into its seventh fiery day.

Under a grim canopy of smoke and dust from mortar and artillery fire the Germans clung to the greater part of the town, following to the letter orders to resist to the bitter end.

German and American tanks rumbled through the streets and engaged in short sharp clashes at point-blank range. Doughboys crept among the stones to stab, shoot and kill with grenades the foe concealed in dugouts and ruined buildings. The Germans thus lost a few strongholds.

Northwest of the town the Americans slowly approached the crest of Mt. Cassino after having reached a point at one time within 75 yards of the ancient monastery at the peak.

This hill was being used by the Germans as the keystone of their defense of Cassino at its foot, and the Americans were smothering one side of it with artillery and the other with bombs as they worked their painful way through pillboxes and emplacements.

Nazis Use Monastery

Some of these pillboxes were protected by concrete walls at their mouths, and the Germans in them were receiving supplies at night. They were using the monastery itself as an artillery observation point, but the ancient landmark of Christian culture still had been spared by American artillerymen.

7 Russian Armies Drive Holes in German Lines

Nazi Retreat Approaches Rout as Reds Tighten Pincers on 10 to 15 Divisions in Ukraine.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Feb. 10—Germany's once all-powerful eastern front was crumbling at many points today under the staggering sledgehammer blows of seven Russian armies.

In the vast reaches of the lower Ukraine the Nazi retreat approached a rout as the tentacles of a great Red army pincers closed on disorganized remnants of between 10 and 15 battered German divisions trapped in the rain-soaked steppe country between Cherkasy and Nikopol, 200 miles to the south.

German dead littered the battlefields as the combined third and fourth Ukrainian armies under Gens. Tolbukhin and Malinovsky turned the German retreat west of Apostolovo into a debacle, outflanked the great iron ore center of Krivoi Rog from the south and surged westward to imperil the Kiev-Nikolaev railway, sole escape route left the fleeing enemy.

10 Towns Captured

Forty towns were captured in this tremendous drive to clear the Ukraine of the invading Germans, including the stronghold of Radush-Noye, 14 miles northwest of Apostolovo and less than eight miles from Krivoi Rog, a Soviet communique said.

In the Dnieper death circle, the first and second Ukrainian armies under Gens. Vatutin and Konev stormed and captured the important town of Godorodische, 18 miles north of Shpola, killing hundreds of Germans, taking many prisoners and sweeping up great stores of war material. Enemy airfields also were captured.

More than 1,000 Germans were killed as the stranglehold tightened on the 10 divisions trapped in this narrowing circle, and repeated German attempts to break into the ring were defeated, the Russian communique said.

3,800 Nazis Killed

The war bulletin said at least 3,800 Nazi troops were killed in the past 24 hours along the entire 1,200-mile-long front.

In the far north, where Gens. Govorov and Meretskov were blasting their way westward toward the Leningrad-Warsaw railway stronghold of Luga from the east, the strongly-fortified towns of Ordezh and Bolshoye-Zamochye, respectively 18 and 13 miles northeast of the prime objective, fell to onrushing Russian spearheads.

The Soviet drive toward the Baltic states is nearing Batetskaya, strategic center on the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway, but no mention was made of operations around Narva. The right wing of Govorov's army was last reported storming the outer defenses of that ancient fortress city on the Leningrad-Reval railway.

$5,000 FIRE HITS MILL AT SYCAMORE

Third Floor of Grain Storage Building Damaged.

SYCAMORE, Feb. 10—Damage estimated at $5,000 resulted from a fire at the Sycamore Mill and Supply Co. yesterday afternoon when the third story of the building, which was filled with grain, ignited. Fire was discovered about 1:30 by the manager of the company, M. A. Ward. Fire departments from Sycamore, Upper Sandusky, Bloomville and McCutchenville battled flames for an hour and a half before the fire was brought under control.

Cause of the fire was given as sparks from the exhaust of a deisel engine supplying power for a mill occupying part of the building.

Extensive damage resulted from efforts to quench flames when water soaked grain stored in the building. The only part of the plant to burn was the third story of the original brick building to which later additions were attached. Company officials said damage was covered by insurance.

PRESIDENT IS GIVEN APPEAL FROM MESA

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 10—The Mechanics Educational Society of America today carried its fight for representation on the war labor board to President Roosevelt with an appeal for an investigation of the government agency's CIO and AFL membership.

Attributing a recent strike to WLB procedure, the independent union's national administrative committee sent a telegram to the Chief Executive requesting that he "order an investigation" of a "very undesirable situation that has already provoked a widespread stoppage of work" and that he "receive a small delegation from our union in order that further elucidation of our inequities can be given you."

The appeal followed the committee's decision to continue a truce in its recent four-day stoppage which affected some 25,000 war workers in 10 Ohio and Michigan factories.

The strike started last Friday when the national labor relations board held a hearing at Toledo on a petition from the CIO United Automobile Workers seeking a bargaining agency election in a Willys-Overland Motor Co. tool room.

Following a MESA sub-committee hearing before the WLB Tuesday, the government agency warned it would call President Roosevelt's attention to the dispute so criminal penalties might be invoked if the strike were resumed.

Important Campaign Speech Ahead for Bricker Tonight

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Ohio's favorite son for the Republican presidential nomination, Governor Bricker, arrived in the capital today for two days of hurried political activity high-lighted by an opportunity to sell him elf and his platform with a pre-Lincoln day banquet speech tonight.

Accompanied by leaders of his campaign organization, the governor was met at union station by a group consisting largely of Ohio Republican congressmen. He was driven to the Mayflower hotel by Rep. J. Harry McGregor of West LaFayette, and Mrs. McGregor.

Highlight of Career

Ohio Republican leaders here expressed belief the governor's appearance in Washington was a highlight of his political career since he became a fullfledged candidate for the presidential nomination.

Coming with her husband, Mrs. Bricker was the center of attention at several separate gatherings. Mrs. Harold H. Burton and Mrs. Robert A. Taft, wives of the Ohio senators, and Rep. Frances Bolton, the state's first congresswoman, arranged a tea this afternoon at Mrs. Taft's home. A coffee will be given tomorrow by Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, president of the League of Republican Women.

On the governor's schedule were a press conference at 10:30 a. m. this morning, luncheon at 12:30 p. m. with Ohio congressmen, and a reception for all members of congress from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

On Air at 9:30 P. M.

But the big event was the function tonight at the Mayflower hotel beginning at 7:30 p. m. and ending with the governor's speech to be broadcast (NBC) at 10:30 p. m. eastern war time (9:30 p. m. Marion time). To Ohio Republicans in Washington it was the "Bricker dinner."

Rep. George H. Bender predicted the speech would dispel any ideas the race for the Republican presidential nomination would be a two-man affair between Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Wendell Willkie, 1940 party nominee. Dewey has said he isn't a candidate.

Bricker has the unanimous indorsement of Ohio house Republicans as well as Senators Burton and Taft.

Rep. Henderson Carson, in charge of ticket sales for the $5 a plate dinner, said he expected an attendance of 2,000.

The two-day program was sponsored by Ohio congressmen and

School Drive, LaRue Auction Set To Boost Sale of E Bonds

Two-Day Selling Campaign Opens in Marion Schools; LaRue Event Scheduled Tonight.

Two special events began today in the Fourth War Loan, and Marion county can make good use of any additional E. bonds they can produce.

Today's events are the start of a two-day bond selling drive in the city schools, with pupils seeking to fill out their stamp books and sell bonds to teachers, and the other is the LaRue bond auction tonight in the LaRue school.

The school campaign is being handled through the classrooms of the elementary and junior high schools, Harding High school having previously launched its own bond selling drive.

School savings accounts and stamp books, plus some extra cash, are expected to be exchanged for war bonds in the drive beginning today, Cecil Gapler, chairman of the city schools' participation in the Fourth War Loan, said.

Donations at LaRue

At LaRue, many dozens of eggs and various other items of food were pouring in today for tonight's bond auction on the final program of the two-day LaRue Community Institute. The program tonight will get under way at 8 o'clock and include a variety of entertainment, including three [illegible]. Lewis Wickersham will be auctioneer.

Evidence that additional bonds from these two events will be needed in the county's Fourth War Loan was shown by today's progress figures. Yesterday's sales included $18,612.50 in E bonds which made a new total of $666,781.25 or 81 per cent of the $819,000 goal. With the Fourth War Loan scheduled to close nationally only a few days hence, leaders were bending every effort to push Marion county's E total over the top to round out the good showing that has been made in every other department of the big bond drive.

Must Reach E Goal

The county's total of all denominations now stands at $3,393,453.25, well beyond the $2,838,000 goal, but leaders have declared the drive can't be called a complete success until the E bond total reaches its goal. Throughout the nation, the treasury department has placed special em-

6,000 Polish Women Train for Invasion of Europe

By RUTH COWAN
Associated Press Writer

POLISH WOMEN'S MILITARY TRAINING CAMP, Somewhere in Scotland—Six thousand Polish women are training here in deadly earnest for the invasion of Europe with the Polish Army.

That training includes firing guns, throwing hand grenades, mastering the fine points of sniping.

They are the Pestki—women who are living for the day when they can march into Europe with the Allied invasion armies and reclaim their homeland.

Polish army officers stress that it is not intended to use the Pestki as combat troops. They are being trained with firearms and live ammunition for defense purpose. But they'll know how to pull an effective trigger should they need to defend themselves—or even help defend their station.

Poland's women guerrilla warriors go into action in battle rehearsal.

Included in their number are seven American women, six Canadians and a Polish refugee who have arrived from North America as volunteers. All are of Polish descent.

The first North American girl to volunteer was Lieut. Halina Eminowicz, 28, of New York. She is the first foreigner to win a commission in the Polish women's army.

After her enlistment she spent several months in the Canadian women's army for her initial training, transferring to the Polish headquarters in Canada in October. Before joining she was secretary to the chairman of the Polish Women's Union of America. Last year when the late General Sikorski visited the United States, Canada and Mexico, she acted as his personal secretary.

Sister In Michigan

Lieut. Eminowicz has a sister, Mrs. Thaddeus Markiewicz, living at Ferndale, near Detroit, Mich., and a brother, Stefan, 30, who is a cadet officer with a Polish artillery unit. The former secretary said:

"I was in Poland for six months in 1939. Oddly enough, I left just two days before the German invasion. I joined up because I love what Poland stands for and is fighting for."

The other Americans, girls 18 to 20, are:

Elenora Respondek, 18, Detroit, Mich., a skilled mechanic in a diamond tool factory engaged in war production. She explained: "I joined because America has everything, while Poland lost everything and needs help."

Mrs. Helena Pastik, 19, Detroit, Mich., whose husband is an inspector at the motor company plant, now converted to production of heavy bombers, where she worked as a thread grinder. She said:

"My husband is an expert in steel and expects a transfer to South America. We would have been apart anyway, but now I feel I am serving a good cause."

Virginia Czarnowski, 20, Greensburg, Pa., a gas tank instructor in a Detroit rubber company. She has nine sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Jean Johnston, lives at 7728 Conger street, Detroit.

Sisters Enrolled

Two sisters, Mario Pantak, 18, and Zofia Pantak, 19, war plant workers in Detroit. They enlisted together and have a brother, Mitchell, who is a private in the U. S. Army.

Genevieve Korycinska, 19, Detroit, a probation nurse at the Providence hospital. She joined the Polish women's army when the WACs refused her application because she was too young. One of her three brothers in the U. S. Air force was killed in North Africa, and her sweetheart also. She hopes to be a motorcycle dispatch rider.

The first Canadian girl to get her application approved after three years' try is Wladyslawa Branka, 20, Windsor, Ontario, who worked for her father, a retail coal dealer.

The others are Mary Zawliszka, 32, and Genowefa Latwinski, 20, of Windsor; Jadwiga Nowak, 18, Winnipeg; Alicja L. Dziki, 19, Manville, Alberta, who gave up her corporal's stripes in the Canadian women's army to transfer to the Polish; Jadzia Szulmlinska, 26, Hamilton, Ontario, also a transfer. Jadzia has two brothers in the services. One is a lieutenant in the Canadian army and the other is an RAF bomber crewman missing after a recent mission.

The fourteenth girl, Maria Pininska, 17, was evacuated from Poland to France, from there to England, and then to Montreal. She spent a year in a New York convent, and returned to Canada to study art. Two months ago she dropped studies to join the army.

Amazing Escapes

She will find here many Polish girls who have made storybook escapes. Some crossed several borders to reach England. Some have been in German prison camps. Large numbers have been brought here from the middle east after volunteering for the Polish army when evacuated from Russian labor camps.

The Pestki (also called the Polish ATS because they wear the ATS uniform furnished by the British but with "Poland" on the arm) is commanded here by Col. Maria Lesniakowa, who during the invasion of her homeland was twice captured and twice escaped.

The basic military training is given by Polish army officers. In addition the women are given special training to fit them to serve with the air, land and naval Polish forces, as well as in the more usual nursing, canteen and clerical jobs.

Italian Farmers Wait Patiently for Life or Death

By The Associated Press

A FORWARD COMMAND POST NEAR CASSINO, Feb. 2—(Delayed)—It was near the end of the long, hard fight for Cassino, and all the men in the old stone kitchen wanted to live to see it won.

Upstairs in the gray, Italian farmhouse, tank, artillery and infantry officers were coordinating the attack on Cassino, not very far away.

Shells were landing all around the old house.

When they began to land within 50 yards in the field to the right and to gouge craters in the road to the left the talking died down. Everybody just waited.

The gray haired Italian housewife looked up when the voices ceased, walked over and sat down on a bench by her husband. She looked silently into his grizzled face and then they both gazed into the fire. They were ready for the shell if it came.

"The old man caught a piece of shrapnel in his stomach three days ago," said Pvt. Italol Stasi of Elizabeth, N. J., who speaks Italian. "A shell landed in his garden."

"We had our medics fix him up," said Lt. Shirly S. French of Canton, O.

"We asked his wife why they didn't move out to a rear area," said Stasi, "and she told us, 'why should we leave. This is our home. We will live or die here'."

Factory Workers Handle Bond Drive Through Payroll Savings Committees

Marion factory workers are doing their part in the Fourth War Loan drive through their smoothly running system which works through the payroll savings division of the Marion County War Finance committee.

At the head of this committee is Harold J. Grigsby, chairman for the duration, who has appointed treasury representatives for each factory to work with committees set up in each Marion factory. The payroll savings division functions throughout the year but steps up its activities for special war loan and bond buying drives.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

No Suspense

THE vice president of the United States, Henry W. Wallace, has dealt boldly with whatever suspense lingers over the question of a fourth term try for Franklin D. Roosevelt. Mr. Wallace says Mr. Roosevelt will run, and his word will be good enough for almost anyone.

That leaves only the suspense about Mr. Wallace, who does not say that he is running for another vice presidential nomination. But there are tell-tale signs. Mr. Wallace has been making so many speeches that the story of his appearances are as common in the newspapers and radio reports as reports of odd occurrences in connection with income tax returns.

He is, in other words, making the great circle. He is on the stump. He is beating the bushes and making the welkin ring. He is thumping the tub, repairing the fences and meeting the boys. If Henry Wallace isn't running for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, then he must be running for the presidential nomination — and in either case there's no suspense about the fact he is running for something.

Things That Count

AS THE Boy Scouts of America launch the second third of a century in what all their admirers hope will be a full century of service, one detail of their operation in the United States is getting special attention.

Throughout the armed forces of the nation are men who were Boy Scouts. Through Scouting they learned many of the skills which now are helping them to serve the country in an emergency. Through Scouting they learned how to value the principles for which they now are willing to fight. It is hard to imagine anything where the transfer of preparation is more direct than the transfer from Scouting to military service.

Yet, Scouting is anything but militarist in character and purpose. Unlike the regimented youth movements favored by Germans, its purpose is to cultivate individualism in its members. Only because its purpose and precepts are so sound do they become valuable in wartime when every element of national strength is needed.

Typical Bridgehead

IN LINE with official admonitions to realize what invasion of the continent of Europe will entail, most Americans will face the implications of the news from Italy without flinching.

The Allied landings south of Rome in the rear of the German army are a typical bridgehead operation. They illustrate clearly two points in this type of operation: First, that it can be carried out, second, that the real test follows days later when the defending force has organized its forces to repel the operation.

In Italy, the Germans have brought manpower and armor to bear on the Allied bridgehead from many points. They are doing everything possible to make it as costly as possible, even to the extent of risking some of their carefully employed air power to harass the troops which have been landed. Conditions are ideal for their artillery and strafing planes.

Despite their ability to put ashore a number of divisions and a mass of equipment, the Allies must maintain themselves at a heavy disadvantage now that the Germans can concentrate on the invasion threat at a single point. Even hospitalization is hazardous, because there is no safe place to establish hospital facilities. All the military resources of a large area can be brought to bear on a relatively small area. It does not mean defeat, but it means that victory must be bought at a price so great that the game may not seem worth the candle.

USO on the Job

AWAY back there in what now seems to have been another era when the theory of United Service Organizations was being explained, it sounded like a good idea. The theory finally became the fact, and the fact was applied to the gigantic project of taking care of the recreational needs of a mammoth army and navy.

USO now is observing its third anniversary. The job it was created to perform is being performed all over the world. Perhaps the quality varies widely, perhaps there are omissions and no doubt there is plenty of room for improvement. But, parallel with the growth of the armed services, USO has been reaching out, doing more, extending its services and on its third anniversary the 800,000 volunteer workers who have kept it going can claim that they have come up to expectations. Their work isn't done, indeed it must seem to them that it has barely been begun, but their conscientious efforts have won the gratitude and approval of millions and will win the praise of millions more before they take a deep breath one day and say, "Well, that's that. We hope we satisfied."

So They Say—

In the event of military operations in Belgium, on no account take flight along the roads. There is more danger on roads than in your own homes. If you hamper movements of the Germans they will shoot you down ruthlessly.—British Broadcast to Belgians.

News Behind the News

Vice Presidency More of Question Now That Fourth Term Bid Is Expected.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Mr. Wallace, the vice president, divulged no secret when he said he thought Mr. Roosevelt intended running for the fourth term.

In truth, the President has been trotting a trial heat here the past few weeks. By his action, Mr. Roosevelt has let all his associates know his intentions.

His conduct of the Democratic National Committee meeting particularly informed all his party associates in and out of congress in unmistakable terms that he expects to head their ticket again. The reaction has been mixed.

To a considerable extent, his forwardness has lessened criticism of him and his policies by wayward Democratic congressmen. The southern bloc has been pushed into the position of accepting the inevitable or openly breaking. Only one so far, Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith, of South Carolina, has stuck openly to his critical guns.

Some still talk of running Senator Byrd as the opposition candidate in the south. Organizations working for his candidacy exist in several southern states.

But the great majority seems prepared to swallow silently the Roosevelt pill, and organize a real fight on the vice presidency. They are determined to prevent the nomination of Wallace or any north New Dealing man.

No One Selected

They have not, however, settled upon a man of their own. While Speaker Rayburn is most frequently mentioned in public, many would prefer a more outspoken southern opposition man like Byrd.

Who Mr. Roosevelt wants, no one knows. Mr. Wallace obviously is waiting nervously for an invitation. Some high Democratic gossip however, suggests the President might even choose a Republican running mate (Willkie) in order to strengthen his candidacy.

Final choice, no doubt, will be made on the basis of what man will contribute most to the ticket politically.

Thus the trial heat has somewhat watered down to the President's opposition within the party, but all the old coals still burn underneath. It has had little effect on the Republicans who are extremely confident they will win more than these states now having Republican governors (26).

Lend-Lease Action

The Truman committee quietly called in James Landis, the President's lend-lease commissioner in the near east, who stomped back to Washington unannounced, complaining the British were circumventing him at every lend-lease turn. None of the testimony will be made public, and Landis will not resign.

Apparently, he got the action he wanted here. At least, he told the nation he would take back to Cairo an enlarged staff of experts who would enable him to meet better the shrewd business and diplomatic competition of the British authorities.

Praise for bravery are being heaped upon Mr. Willkie for daring to demand $16,000,000,000 more taxes—but not by tax-makers. Mr. Willkie denounced the President for having failed to submit a program to raise half that amount, but he himself failed to mention a single additional way of raising the money.

Theoretically Possible

The federal tax bill now is $43,600,000,000, state and local, $11,000,000,000. The national income is running around $153,000,000,000. Theoretically, it is therefore possible for the government to take $16,000,000,000 more, as the country now has two-thirds of what it earns left to live on.

But it would require something like a 50 per cent withholding tax, meaning that the man earning $50 a week would get only $30.

A sales tax or an excess profits tax on individuals (farmers who went to shipyards) would not raise anything like the Willkie amount.

Any award, therefore, must await a declaration from Mr. Willkie as to how he would get the money because that is the main problem.

Bonds and Inflation

I have heard of neighborhood prattlers—not in my neighborhood, however—spreading drivel against bond buying on the ground that there will be inflation.

Maybe there will be a limited amount of price inflation, or, at least, continuation of the inflation we have experienced in this war. Everyone knows that. But these bonds are being bought not only by 60,000,000 people, but by every large corporation and investor in the country.

The wise financial brains fully realize the possibilities of inflation. But they also know that a bond is the same as money, will always have the same value as money. They know the whole financial structure of the country is now wrapped up in those bonds.

As long as there is an ounce of authority in government or big influence in large financial quarters, or from the biggest bloc in all history, those 60,000,000 bond buyers, a destructive inflation of these investments is impossible.

The wise investors know what the neighborhood prattlers cannot even understand.

Voters Pictured as Calling for Ample Proof That G.O.P. Is Better Able To Govern.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IN his speech at Twin Falls on Tuesday evening Wendell Willkie made a beginning at showing how the national elections could evoke the better rather than the worse aspects of our public life. Willkie did this by remembering that the Republicans, who are asking the people to place them in power, must persuade millions of voters that the Republican party is fit to govern.

Very many of the professional politicians seem not to realize this—that with their men at the front and with their jobs and their livelihood enmeshed with the war, there are now countless American families who will take a very sober and a very searching interest in how this war is conducted and is concluded.

In the coming months the fury of the battles will mount, and the immensity of the issues involved will become increasingly evident. These people will then have less and less appetite for harum-scarum party politics, and for the silly assumption that because a man says he is against the New Deal, and is down on Roosevelt, and is for free enterprise, he is therefore and for that reason alone entitled and qualified to govern the country. Too many American citizens have now seen how difficult, how complicated and how momentous a thing this whole war is.

Need Persuasive Arguments

They will have to be persuaded that the risks of changing horses are less than the advantage. And one of the first ways of persuading them is to do what Willkie did at Twin Falls—to treat them as rational men who have to be persuaded by a frank discussion of the very serious problems of changing the administration in the midst of war, and not as a rabble to be manipulated by tricks and swept along by rabble-rousing.

Willkie's speech is a powerful answer given in measured words and in fine temper to the question of whether the country can afford a change of administration. But the answer could not be conclusive for the simple reason that Willkie is unable to say whether the control of his party will be in the hands of the post-New Deal Republicans, who mean to shape the future, or the pre-New Deal old guard Republicans who are out front in this congress.

Yet this is the crucial question as to whether the Republican party can be trusted with power. Willkie cannot answer the question today because the answer depends upon the outcome of the campaign which he is now making among the rank and file of his party.

Needs Majority in Congress

Willkie's campaign cannot be fully successful, it seems to me, if it becomes a personal contest between himself and the rest of the field. He might win, but his victory, as in 1940, would leave the independent voters unconvinced if they saw that he had beaten, but had not won over the main Republican organization.

2 LAST LIPP . . . . . .

The next president needs a disciplined majority in congress. One of the strongest reasons for not re-electing President Roosevelt is that he has lost so much of his leadership of congress.

Now there is a reason why the post-New Deal Republicans, the governors and some of the newer members of congress, are not certain of establishing their control of the party and of imposing a discipline which is indispensable if they are to take power. That reason is the conflict between Willkie and Gov. Dewey.

This conflict divides the post-New Deal Republicans into rather evenly matched factions, and gives to the old guard Republicans the balance of power. The old guard are trading upon this situation. In so far as they can keep Willkie and Dewey in conflict, they can still hope either to make the nominee of the convention beholden to them, be he Dewey, MacArthur, Bricker, a dark horse, or if Willkie overwhelms them, they can still hold on as in 1940 to the party machinery.

Preparing To Govern

The resolution of the Willkie-Dewey conflict is, therefore, central to the whole problem of how the Republican party is to make itself fit to govern.

Both Willkie and Dewey will be severely tested by their behavior toward one another during the next four months. They can be bitter and irreconcilable rivals; if they are, the winner of the nomination will find it hard to be elected, and dangerously difficult to be a good president if he is elected. Or they can be friendly rivals, each taking the position that if he can not be the first, then he will be the second and the supporter of the other. This would unite all the elements of the party which, if combined, make it capable of government—which if divided, means that the pre-New Deal old guard Republicans will remain dominant.

If Willkie were the president, he would need more than anything else the thing which Dewey is in high degree, a systematic, thorough, cool, and young administrator who by his orderly grasp of concrete matters, and his excellent judgment of men, is on top of his specific job, and not all hot and bothered under it. The immense problems of the demobilization, in the fullest sense of the word, will call for these qualities.

If Dewey were president, he would need to be more than an administrator. He would need what Willkie has abundantly and so bravely — the capacity to touch men's hearts and share their hopes. Perhaps he has this capacity. For he is a young man who has certainly grown and is surely growing, not only in mind but in character, and no one will hold it against him that it took him a long time to understand the war. He belongs to a generation that has had to unlearn much that their elders taught them.

It was Saturday, Feb. 10, 1934.

Will Rogers, writing his daily comment on the news, spoke of France's governmental difficulties as follows: "Monday France wanted Communism; Tuesday they wanted a king; Wednesday an old man told 'em to go home and have a good drink of wine, take a nap, and forget it. Just about what will satisfy any mob."

The Marion fire department's unusual surge of business, coincident with one of the worst cold waves in years, ran up to a total of 16 calls in 30 hours, or a total of 32 runs since the preceding Tuesday.

Mrs. Eva Timmer, 43, of Ferndale, Mich., was found guilty by a Wyandot county jury of manslaughter in connection with the death of R. V. Brown, 52, Indian relic collector from Powhattan Point, whose body had been found in the ditch eight miles north of Upper Sandusky on the preceding Oct. 13.

Harry Pierpont, Charles Makley and Russell Clark, members of the Dillinger band of desperadoes charged with slaying Sheriff Jess Sarber when they broke jail at Lima the preceding October, were back in jail at Lima under heavy machine-gun guard following their recapture several days earlier in Oklahoma.

With "Jungle Jolly" Troops

Boys in Caribbean Long for Break in Monotony.

Joseph E. Dynan, now assigned to the French committee in Algiers, wrote the following story at sea some weeks ago, following a long stay in the Caribbean.

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Associated Press Writer

SOMEWHERE IN THE CARIBBEAN—In the fabulous golden Guinas, in their sodden, jungle hedged camps, it rains almost every day, any soldier is a "Hello Joe," and some of the boys are going "jungle jolly."

"Jungle jolly" is no joke, though the fellows laugh when they mention it. It is soldier slang for a real occupational ailment among the garrisons with the thankless, monotonous and quite unspectacular tasks of manning and guarding the string of American bases along the aerial route to the fighting fronts.

Here, with what they consider too little assistance from the home front, the khaki clads are fighting a dull, deadly fight on a forgotten sector along the approaches to the Panama canal. Too many of them, most any soldier will say, have been there too long, some as long as two years. Their enemies are not Nazis or Japs, but boredom, monotony, loneliness.

There are no communiques on their war. The battles are at every one's front door, in each barracks. They are in the neat, well kept officers' sections where transplanted clerks, West Pointers, machinists and bond salesmen strive to maintain morale, discipline and efficiency against attacks from the unseen but omnipresent enemy.

Field commanders on this front are the special service officers, the USO directors, the medical officers and the Red Cross workers whose aim is to keep the lads healthy in spirit as well as body. They have handicaps sometimes augmented by difficulty in obtaining late movies and recreation equipment due to shortages in transportation space.

They have healthy, active young men torn from their usual environment without the compensating excitement of combat, the thrill of coming to grips with the foe. Most of their lads want desperately to get back to the States on furlough or to be transferred to an active front.

No Feminine Companionship

They are deprived of feminine companionship. For most of the lads down near the jungles, there "ain't" no such animal. Girls, fair complexioned American girls, are what you see in the movies or in those four month old magazines at the post library.

Sometimes this forlorn feeling takes a humorous twist. A troupe of USO entertainers which included a nationally famous male star was touring the area recently. He was accompanied, among other things, by four girl entertainers. This is how the show was billed at one camp:

"Show tonight:—four white women."

They tell the story down there of the GI who came from furlough in the States, disconcerted at the state of affairs back home.

"People back there are crazy," he declared, wide-eyed. "They drive on the right side of the road and there are white girls all around."

There is no barracks No. 13 on that post.

These are men living without war as they thought of it when they joined up or read their "greetings" from the president. Most of them get into town only perhaps two or three times a month. When they do, town is not very much. The USO does its best to arrange dances, but suitable partners just are not there in suitable numbers.

Some of the men comment bitterly on "canteens" in Manhattan, on pictures in the weekly pictorials of soldiers and sailors promenading with pretty nurses or WACS at service club parties in the States, on all the USO entertainment touring the camps at home.

They do not exactly begrudge these comforts to the boys at home, because somehow they hope some day to be one of them. But they sure would like to get in on some of the fun.

It's Spirit of Goodwill in Every Shopper's Greeting But Want Things To Get Back to Normal

By DAMON RUNYON

I BELIEVE I like the new spirit of [illegible] that has come over our former sour-[illegible] especially those who have to do any [illegible]

I can remember as well as if it were last Tuesday when shoppers with [illegible] in their veins, would enter, say a merry [illegible] and ignoring any polite and cheerful [illegible] from the meek fellow, would issue their [illegible] in acid tones, with perhaps a few acid remarks in disparagement of his wares.

Now they go in all smiles. They beam [illegible] every pore.

"Good morning, Mr. Cutlets, good morning, good morning. What a good morning we are having, are we not? How is your nice Mr. Cutlets? And the children? Is your tartis any better? By the way, have you lamb chops, Mr. Cutlets? Your lamb chops are always so marvelous. Oh, don't hurry, Mr. Cutlets. No, no, don't hurry."

And so on. Always with the big smile, the kisser, understand, and the ha-ha in the voice as if joyous laughter bubbled close.

If it is now the sirloin snipper whose face is devoid of the creases of hilarity, and who seems to respond in a less giggly key than the shoppers, it is not necessarily because there is no sunshine in his soul. It may be because he has grown tired of erstwhile screeches [illegible] a christmas greeting out of every call.

I HAVE been hanging out in small shops and department stores and other places of business to observe this sudden envelopment in sweetness and light of shoppers [illegible] once made life miserable for clerks and other attaches of such establishments.

The uniformly bright grins that the shoppers turn on the lads and lassies behind the counters, the courtesy of their address and the infinite patience with which they meet delays might give me hope of a world to come ever tinkling with tee-hees, only I distrust human nature. I suspect that the day after the war is over the shoppers will drop their masks and resume their former scowls.

However, I will admit that I am partaking of the new spirit to some extent myself, and that I ever was a hard man to shave in the role of customer. It was just that I never was much of a hand for shedding gladness ostentatiously. I have always been a trifle reserved in that respect. Now I have adopted the technique of the large hello.

ON ENTERING any place of business on shopping bent, I begin exuding the large hello at the threshold—"hello, hello, hello, hello, hello"—starting in minor key, and gradually lifting the tempo, so that by the time I hit the first counter to request some article, everybody in the joint realizes that they are included in the hello.

I witnessed a pathetic scene recently.

A big rough guy who has always gone huffing and scuffling his way through life, browbeating and intimidating his fellow citizens, entered a place where they repair things.

He was carrying in his hand a coffee percolator. He approached the little gee in charge of the shop rather timidly, I thought, waited patiently until the fellow got through with a long discussion with another customer, and then said, humbly:

"Will you please fix this gadget for my wife?"

I WAS appalled by the big guy's abasement. I can remember when he would have lunged into the place like a sore plumber, hurled the coffee cooker in the man's puss and barked his order in a voice that would have shivered your timbers had you been no closer than a block away.

I could not bear the disdainful manner in which little Mr. Fix-it eyed the big mugg as I walked away just as a couple of tears rolled down his cheeks and fell on the percolator, ker-plunk. Life on the home front is really tough.

Half a Century

By Truman Twill

Being married half a century probably isn't much of a trick, once you get the hang of it. It isn't much of a trick to lay an egg, either, once you get the hang of it.

It's getting the hang of it that counts.

Can you listen to a man ask 18,000 times where in the name of all that's holy you have hidden his socks and his collar buttons when they're in plain sight, and why there's a button off his shirt that he just pulled off, himself?

Can you remind him to get his hair cut, his pants pressed, his shoes shined and his relatives fed and entertained for 50 years and come up with all your buttons on, and his too?

Can you humor him through his tantrums and ailments, real and imaginary, for 2,600 weeks, laugh at his bad jokes, forgive him for cluttering up the living room and the bedroom and keep smiling?

Can you listen to him snore, refrain from correcting him in public, when he gets his foot in his mouth, have his meals on the table when he wants them, show any sympathy for his complaints about the food and keep that up from decade to decade without developing an allergy?

Can you forgive him for leaving wash water in the wash bowl, tobacco ashes on the rug, dirty clothes on the floor and footprints on the clean linoleum day in and day out for almost two generations without calling the authorities and telling them to come get him because you are ready to go quietly?

Can you watch him snooze in his easy chair when you want to step out and be lively, and can you let him step out and be lively when you want to snooze on the davenport—and can you keep it up, spring, summer, fall and winter?

And you, sir, can you fish a woman's hair out of the wash bowl all that time and be kind to her relations and brush her pawnee off your blue serge without running off to join the Foreign Legion?

Can you pay the Christmas bills 50 times without blowing your top and take down the screens and put up with endless rearrangements of the furniture and endless remodelings of house and your own life?

Can you keep your sense of humor and shut up whenever it's time to clam up? Can you remember her birthdays and 49 assorted wedding anniversaries and dry her tears and indulge her whims and admire her hats and tell her how lovely she looks for 18,000 days, with some little new every day?

Can you keep convincing her you're a better man than the bird she turned down, and can you keep convincing her she's a lovelier creature, and smarter too, than the two dozen you could have married before she finally caught you in a trap?

Maybe so, but wait and see. Wait and see. 50 years are gone, then do your crowing because then, no one can argue about it any more. You've got the hang of it. You've made grade. The golden opportunity was yours and you made the most of it. The congratulations belong to you. You can take a bow.

Former RAF Pilot Bags 2 Japs As U. S. Marine Flier

(The following story was written by [illegible], of W[illegible], a Marine Corps combat correspondent.)

By The Associated Press

BOUGAINVILLE—(Delayed)—In battle over Rabaul, a former RAF pilot led a unit of Marine Corsairs against a flight of 20 Zeroes, personally accounted for two, and on the homeward trip, landed his badly-damaged plane on the water 15 miles off the coast of Bougainville.

In his first brush with Jap airmen since going into action last December, First Lieut. Robert W. Baker of Youngstown, O., bagged both Zeros after several minutes of combat, exploding them in mid-air with long bursts of his guns.

"The Japs were plentiful," said the Marine flier, describing the action. "Zeros can sometimes outmaneuver a Corsair but they can't outdive it. Unless you catch them by surprise, they'll give you a good scrap.

"The two I downed just made a couple of mistakes of which I took advantage," he concluded simply.

In the engagement Lieutenant Baker's plane received slugs in the engine and ailerons. He nursed it homeward along the Bougainville coastline. When his engine failed, he landed in the water and paddled in a lifeboat for five hours before he was picked up by an American vessel.

A member of the Hell's Angels, a Marine fighter squadron, the 26-year-old flier was a "Yank" with the RAF for two years before returning to America in January, 1943, to join the Marines.

"The fight for Rabaul is much worse than the Dieppe raid," he said. "Here it's a long range aerial war, while in England, at the time I was flying, it was just a short hop over the channel. If you were shot up you could almost glide home. It gives you a lot of confidence when you can fight over your own territory."

Lieutenant Baker, while flying with the British, helped train some of the first U. S. fighter squadrons to fly the Spitfire.

When the United States entered the war, Lieutenant Baker either had to return to America or renounce his citizenship. He chose the former. Single, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Baker of Youngstown.

Lt. Moore Flies Here for Visit with Mother

A Cessna Army UC 78 flew into Marion airport late Friday afternoon, stopped long enough to let Lt. Ray P. Moore alight, and then took off for Columbus. Lt. Moore visited with his mother, Mrs. Florence Moore of 203 North State street until the plane returned to Marion Sunday.

The plane is a five-passenger twin-motored craft used mainly to ferry Army personnel. Lt. Moore has been stationed at Garden City, Kas., for the past year as flight instructor and is now senior pilot of his squadron. Lt. Moore, accompanied by another officer from Ft. Worth, Tex., took off Sunday night for their home base at Garden City.

Bad Coughs Yield Quickly To This Home Mixture

Surprisingly Quick Relief. No Cooking. Saves Money.

Here's a medicine for coughs due to colds, that you mix in your own kitchen. It's so easy to prepare that a child could do it, but once tried, you'll never again be without it.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—no trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of very wonderful cough syrup. It's thrifty, too—about four times as much for your money. And children take it willingly, because it tastes so good.

This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that's surprising. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable agent for soothing throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

SUPPLY PROBLEM ON BEACHHEAD. As the Fifth Army puts up a terrific fight to hold its precious Nettuno-Anzio beachhead gains against stiff Nazi counterattacks, some idea of its supply problem and of the communications advantages of the Germans may be gained by a study of this map. All supplies reaching the Fifth must be beached and sent "the hard way," whereas there are railroads and highways leading into Rome and southward which can be used by the Germans. A rail line through Tivoli has frequently been bombed by Allied fliers in an effort to knock it out. (International)

Water Shortage Faced by Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Feb. 10—A warning went out, Wednesday, to the people of Galion that the city is facing its most critical water shortage in history.

All wells of the city from which the water supply is obtained are running low, with one well going dry Tuesday.

In addition to being urged to conserve water in every way possible, citizens were being asked to take special precautions in the matter of fire prevention. It was stressed that a large fire at this time would not only cause the depletion of the present water supply, but it might prove disastrous because of insufficient water to fight the blaze.

So critical is the shortage of water, that the situation attracted the attention of Dr. R. H. Markwith, director of health for the state of Ohio, who is sending one of his officers to the city to examine the prospect of getting additional water which would be safe for human consumption.

ENDS 5-YEAR SIEGE OF CONSTIPATION!

"Now as Regular as Anyone!" Says H. C Durand

Here's a sincere, unsolicited letter every disappointed "doser" will want to read.

"I'm 82 years old, and have been constipated over 5 years, going as much as 5 days without a movement. Pills and laxatives would relieve me only for the day I took them. Next day I'd be as bad as ever. Then I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Am now on my second box, and as regular as anyone could want, thanks to regular use of your wonderful product!" Mr. H. C. Durand, 221 N. Columbus Ave., Freeport, Long Island, N. Y.

Sounds like "magic," doesn't it? Yet, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN really can, and does, get at a common cause of constipation—lack of certain dietary "cellulosic" elements! That's because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements—which help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't work by "sweeping out"! It is simply a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If your constipation is of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins daily. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN MINE CAVE-IN

By The Associated Press

PITTSTON, Pa., Feb. 10—The earth that opened up and swallowed little Jule Ann Fulmer, 2, as she toddled along a quiet residential street gave up her body to weary rescue workers last night, and today the coroner began an investigation to fix responsibility for her death.

Investigations also were started by Pennsylvania mine inspectors and the Pittston Mine Cave Commission, and Mayor John R. Kelly said he hoped they would lead to legislation to shore up the honeycomb of abandoned mine tunnels that undermine the town.

A mine cave-in opened a fissure in the earth under Jule Ann's feet Tuesday and she fell in. Then an earth slide along the sides of the hole buried her alive. Rescuers removed tons of dirt to recover the body. It was the first fatal cave-in in a series that began several years ago and caused damage to many homes and public buildings.

SOLDIER HUNTED IN HOTEL SLAYING

By The Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 10—Police and military authorities today sought an unidentified soldier for questioning in connection with the hotel slaying here of another soldier, tentatively identified as Pvt. Lee M. Riley of Webster City, Iowa.

The soldier's nude body with a sweat shirt sleeve knotted around the neck, was found in a downtown hotel yesterday. An examination by a pathologist showed he had been strangled, probably shortly after he and a companion, both in uniform, checked in at 11:18 Monday night.

The companion was registered under the name of a soldier stationed at Bradley Field, Conn. Police said a check disclosed the soldier of that name had been present there Monday and Tuesday.

Papers in Riley's room indicated he was returning from his home town to Bluethenthal field near Wilmington after a furlough.

Officers here would not comment upon a report from Columbus, O., that police had picked up a soldier there upon the request of local authorities.

SAW CLAPPER WAVE GOODBYE

Newsman Tells of Crash That Cost Life of Writer in Marshalls.

By SPENCER DAVIS
AP War Correspondent

ABOARD A CARRIER FLAGSHIP OFF ENIWETOK, IN THE MARSHALLS, Feb. 2 (Delayed) —Raymond Clapper, newspaper columnist, waved a cheery thumbs up salute as the torpedo plane carrying him peeled off for a bombing glide shortly before the collision in which he and six navy fliers were killed.

One of the torpedo pilots who witnessed the collision was Lt. Paul L. Dickson of Springfield, O.

The air accident, whose victims included one of the ablest torpedo squadron commanders in the service, occurred during a raid on Engebi Island.

Clapper, who had been an observer in a Flying Fortress on the first Rome block-buster raid last summer, asked to accompany the squadron commander on the combat flight to gather material for a column contrasting the Pacific and European versions of air war.

I saw the plane with Clapper aboard plunge into the lagoon moments after it struck another bomber. Both planes burst into flames and sank at once. No one survived.

Clapper's commander had more than 2,900 hours in the air.

The torpedo squadron he trained and led struck the first blow in the all-out carrier offensive to neutralize Kwajalein in the Marshalls and [illegible] first to [illegible] Engebi [illegible] Eniwetok.

On approaching [illegible] today, an [illegible] by Lt. William [illegible] of Independence, Ka[illegible] was riding [illegible] the number [illegible] left wing.

I saw Clapper [illegible] busily taking [illegible] saw. When the squadron leader peeled off for the glide at 9,500 feet Clapper waved a merry thumbs up. That was the last I saw of him.

His plane [illegible] from the [illegible] at 1,000 feet and laid a perfect pattern of [illegible] and 100-pound bombs along the Jap barrack [illegible] Ditch followed in.

The squadron began reforming behind the leader over Engebi. Ditch had regained [illegible] position when the [illegible] zigzagged wing [illegible] tending to [illegible] Engebi for a [illegible]

Then I felt a violent impact below me.

Ditch's plane bounced like it had hit an air current. Then I saw two bombers plunge into the water within 30 feet of each other.

An angry red [illegible] of flames appeared on the lagoon [illegible] and black columns of smoke began to rise.

The entire formation circled continuously over the area looking for survivors but none had lived through that terrific crash in midair.

Torpedo pilots who witnessed the collision, including Ditch and Lieutenant Dickson, said the squadron commander was unable to see the other pilot who was in a "blind spot."

SENATOR BREWSTER CITES POST-WAR AIM

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — Senator Brewster, Republican of Maine, aired today his conception of the Republican party's foreign policy as one calling for world-wide American system of air transport communication and merchant shipping, as well as "an equitable allocation of the world's petroleum resources."

Brewster said he would elaborate on his views in a series of speeches beginning tonight at Logan, O. Friday he will speak in Chicago, Saturday at Colorado Springs and Monday at Indianapolis.

The Maine senator, one of the group which toured world battlefronts last fall, explained in an interview that all but his Chicago speech would be political, the talks in Logan, Colorado Springs and Indianapolis being made in connection with the Lincoln day meetings of the Republicans.

"My eyes were opened on our tour," Brewster said, "and I have had further occasion to realize the tremendous interest in the future of our petroleum and aviation industries with my work with the Truman committee, investigating the petroleum situation, and with the senate commerce subcommittee looking into postwar aviation possibilities.

"It has become clear that we need an affirmative foreign policy on these matters aside from our associations with nations and the continuation of a state of national preparedness.

"We must insist that after the war we have an all-American communications system extending around the world, an all-American air transportation system, maintenance of our present extended merchant marine, and an equitable allocation of the world's petroleum resources to make up for what we've lost during the war."

GOOD OLD DAYS GONE, WILLKIE TELLS FARMERS

Declares Government Aid Is Necessary for Agriculture.

By The Associated Press

DES MOINES, Feb. 10—Wendell L. Willkie declared to the nation's farmers today, "Don't be suckers for the good old-days theory that it no longer is necessary to depend on supported prices, a soil-conservation plan and federal guarantees of stable market conditions."

Willkie, a probable contender for the Republican presidential nomination, asserted in an article in the March issue of Successful Farming magazine:

"The urge—the temptation—is to go back to a completely free and independent economy where all relationships with the government are abandoned. A bright and rosy dream, that is, too bright and rosy to be true. Let's wake up from the dream and be sensible."

Willkie outlined his own eight-point farm program:

"First, correct the glaring administrative weaknesses in the war effort on the farm front, (2) then move onward to a program based on expanding markets, (3) drop production control and produce to the limit, (4) develop a sound national conservation program, (5) support farm prices at a fair level and maintain basic-commodity loans, (6) develop distribution of nutritive foods on the widest basis possible, (7) pursue every scientific possibility to expand the farmers market, (8) finally, cooperate with the world to make a prosperous agriculture at home."

HOPE OF SAVING FOOD SUBSIDY FADES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — Administration hopes of saving the consumer food price subsidies are fading fast. The senate, in debate on a bill to extend the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) but end food subsidies, voted down late yesterday an amendment to provide $1,500,000,000 for the federal payments this year.

Subsidy supporters had hoped if congress passed the subsidy repeal bill, President Roosevelt would veto it and the veto would be sustained.

But yesterday's vote—49 to 26—showed that anti-subsidy forces are close to the two-thirds majority needed to override a presidential veto.

Service Vote

The service vote is assuming proportions of a full-fledged campaign issue.

President Roosevelt has termed the state absentee ballot plan a "fraud" but Rep. Halleck (R-Ind), chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee said he will answer the Chief Executive's criticism and will pledge his party to do everything it can to deliver what he termed a "real" ballot, into the hands of fighting men.

Quick Victory In Marshalls Gives U. S. Upper Hand

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

... amazingly quick victory over the ... stronghold in the heart of the Marshalls ... enables us to complete our ... elements of the Japanese ... while he is ... ruthless, we can ... of easily ...

The Kwajalein ... to speak, but ... preliminary offensive leading to the final assault on the ... enemy citadel—the Japanese mainland. In the words of ... Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, this triumph will "serve to speed up the tempo" of our operations.

Tokyo gets the feel of this, too. Premier Tojo tells his legislature that the war is "increasing in ferocity day by day and we are now being confronted with the situation where the fate of the greater East Asia sphere and the rise and fall of imperial Japan will be decided. The present situation does not indicate that the road is to be easy." Nipponese military and political leaders believe the outcome of the war will be decided this year.

Concentrate On Defense

It's significant that in this changing situation the Japanese, like the Hitlerites, are concentrating on the manufacture of defensive types of warplanes rather than the offensive heavy bombers. That's the thermometer with which we get the enemy temperature. The little men of the rising sun have taken a page from the Nazi book of strategy and are going to fight a defensive, delaying action in the hope of tiring us out so that we will leave them in possession of some of their ill-got gains.

One of Japan's main difficulties is lack of sea transportation. The official Domei news agency yesterday informed the controlled Asiatic press that transportation problems are limiting the country's use of the resources of the occupied areas.

That's gladsome news. Untold wealth lies in China and Indonesia—but the mikado hasn't the ships to bring it home. Upon these riches he is dependent to win the war. Admiral Nimitz added a line to this yesterday by stating that the enemy lacks destroyers "to escort their convoy or to make up an adequate battle fleet."

Despite our superiority on the sea, Nimitz holds that "the Japs can only be defeated from bases in China, and his objective is "to get our ground and air forces into China as early as possible." That fits perfectly the strategy which the allied high command apparently has been working on that is, to make bombing the chief weapon for the reduction of Japan proper.

Need Bases in China

In order to bring the full weight of the vast Anglo-American air fleets to bear on Tokyo, Osaka and other great cities, we must have bases in China. That of course involves a hard and complicated task of invasion. Nimitz intimates that his Navy, Marine Corps and Army forces will have a big hand in this China drive.

However, that will be part of the final all-out offensive, which presumably can't be carried out until Hitler has been finished off. It's going to be a titanic operation to open up China, dig the Japanese out of their defenses and drive them back so that we can establish airfields and supply bases within easy striking distance of the heart of the Japanese octopus—Tokyo.

Pending release of equipment from Europe we don't lack preliminaries to occupy our time. We have to complete piercing Japan's eastern shield, of which the Marshalls have been such an important part. And we proceed amidst signs that the enemy's defensive structure in the Pacific is crumbling under the allied assault.

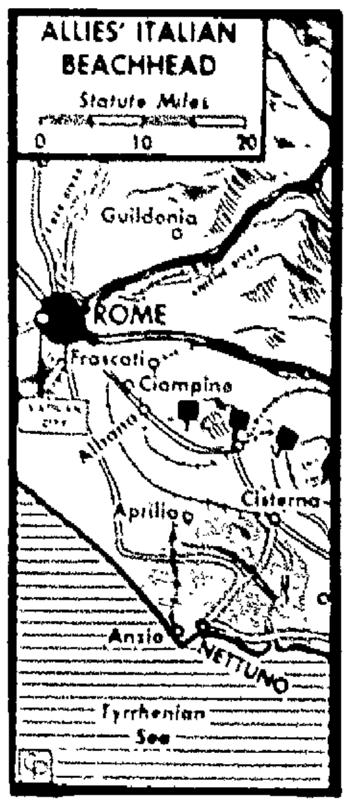

JOHN G. SEITER OF NEAR MARION DIES

Stricken on Farm Where He Was Born 76 Years Ago.

John G. Seiter, 76, farmer and a lifelong resident of Marion county, died at ... today ... of ... Seiter had ... three years. ... on the farm on which he was born Oct. 27, 1867 to William Seiter, a native of Pleasant township, and Louise Bauer Seiter, whose birthplace was Germany. His marriage was to Clara Rush in 1891.

Surviving with the widow are two children, Louise Seiter and Miss Medella Seiter, secretary at the Pleasant Township school, a grandson, Gerald Seiter with the armed forces in Ireland and a great-granddaughter. Surviving also are three sisters, Mrs. George Doarill of Prospect, Mrs. Mary Schrote of Pleasant township and Mrs. Charles Gilbert of Bellefontaine avenue, and three brothers, William and Wesley Seiter of Pleasant township and Henry G. Seiter of South Prospect street. Mr. Seiter was a member of the Albright church in Pleasant township which has been closed for a number of years.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at Calvary Evangelical church with the pastor, Rev. R. W. Faulkner officiating. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street after 7:30 o'clock tonight until 10 a. m. Saturday and at Calvary Evangelical church after 11 a. m. until the funeral hour.

OFFICIAL CRITICIZES RAILROAD COMBINE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Various railroad agreements and practices have "almost totally suppressed" competition west of the Mississippi river, curtailed new services and prevented rate reductions, Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge told a senate sub-committee today.

In a statement prepared for the group, which is studying war mobilization problems, Berge particularly scored the so-called "western agreement" among lines operating west of the Mississippi.

He said the western agreement, with an avowed purpose of avoiding "practices which will dissipate railroads' earnings in the western district," was entered into Dec. 1, 1932, and remained in effect until April 23, 1943, "when it was reputedly cancelled by the signatory railroads after the department of justice, having just discovered its existence, addressed an inquiry to the western commissioner."

The justice department's anti-trust division chief criticized the Pullman company for using "its monopoly of the sleeping car business to make the railroads pay the additional cost of adopting new-style lightweight sleeping cars in place of old-type heavyweight Pullmans," and for otherwise restraining "the adoption of new transportation equipment."

Coach Dorris Step Nearer Induction in Armed Service

Military service seemed near today for Vic Dorris, head football coach and boys' physical education instructor at Harding High school, after he had passed his selective service physical examination yesterday at Columbus.

Coach Dorris' selective service board is at Granville, and he said today he understood he would be in Marion until the board calls him to report for induction, adding that he expected to remain here at least the customary 21-day period. Until called, he expects to continue work with physical education and health classes at Harding.

He said today he may ask to have his registration transferred from Granville to Board 2 in Marion in view of the fact he has made his home here since September of 1942.

Dorris was one of 32 Marion county men who went to Columbus for physical examination yesterday. He is 30 years old, and he and Mrs. Dorris, who make their home on Windsor street, are parents of two children. Last summer he served as supervisor of the Marion Recreation Commission's summer recreation program.

The Germans put in counterattacks north and south of Cassino to relieve their position, striking up Mt. Amaneta, a mile and a half northwest of the town where they were repulsed.

Below Cassino tory struck in the mountainous sector of Mt. Ornito, two and a half miles northeast of Castelforte, but on this Garigliano river front the British also threw the Germans back and made slight gains.

On the Eighth army front a strong enemy patrol advanced in the Guardiagrele area and was beaten back only after hours of fighting.

11 YEARS OF FREEDOM ENDS FOR OHIOAN

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb 10—William R. Mahoney was back in jail today after an 11-year effort to conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen.

The 41-year-old truck driver for an east side war plant was arrested by Cleveland police last night after an anonymous tip was sent to London prison farm, where he had escaped in 1933 after serving two years for grand larceny.

Detectives said the confessed escapee was twice married after his escape, to women who knew nothing of his past record. His first wife, mother of three of Mahoney's four children, died three years ago. Mahoney has worked as a building contractor in Cleveland since 1933.

Police records show Mahoney's first arrest was in 1915, for breaking and entering. He was sentenced to the boys' school at Lancaster, and later served three subsequent sentences at Lancaster. In 1931 he was given a one and a half to seven year sentence to the London prison farm for grand larceny.

Detectives said he escaped after a few months, but returned voluntarily. Two years later, when a parole plea was refused, he escaped again, records show.

the League of Republican Women.

Among the Ohio congressmen who met the governor at union station were Representatives Thomas A. Jenkins of Ironton, Alvin F. Weichel of Sandusky, and Henderson H. Carson of Canton.

Also in the group were William Smith, Sandusky county, Ohio, Republican chairman; Roy D. Moore, Canton publisher and Bricker campaign manager, J. J. Flanagan, Toledo, press secretary of the Bricker organization, and Robert L. Barton, Columbus, the governor's secretary.

Accompanying the governor were John W. Galbreath of Columbus, Bricker campaign director and treasurer, and Hugh Huntington of Columbus, in charge of Bricker delegates.

Bricker said his speech tonight would deal with domestic affairs and that he would discuss international problems later.

The governor arrived for the press conference promptly at 10:30, smiled and expressed surprise at the large number of reporters and photographers. With Mrs. Bricker he posed for pictures. Mrs. Bricker went immediately to an adjoining room where she was introduced to women reporters.

The governor laughed with others in the room when a photographer asked him to "smile and don't look sour." A question as to whom he thought the Democrats would nominate for President brought another hearty laugh but no reply.

Bricker was indefinite about his future political plans, saying that no decision had been reached whether he would enter presidential primaries in states other than Ohio.

He predicted confidently the Republican nominee would win in 1944. Asked why he thought that, he replied:

"The time has come for a change in this country. The Republican party is better equipped for post-war rehabilitation than the Democrats. Its state administrations have established records for stability, economy and the sound administrative government needed after the war."

OWI To Broadcast Bricker Statements

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—The office of war information assigned one of its reporters to "cover" today's news conference of Gov. Bricker of Ohio, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The reporter said his account of Bricker's statements would be short-waved to overseas listeners the same as the report of any other news event.

Republicans have charged in congress that the OWI transmitted abroad only speeches and statements by President Roosevelt for the benefit of members of the American armed forces.

AMELIA EARHART SEARCH IN MARSHALLS PROPOSED

Congressman Wants Hunt Made on Jap Islands.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Sunset, July 18, 1937, and a U. S. navy task force turned homeward from a search of more than 250,000 square miles of the Pacific with the announcement that Amelia Earhart had been given up for dead.

The government wrote finis to the search for America's tawny-haired, tomboy aviatrix, who had vanished into equatorial skies 16 days before while on a world-girdling flight.

Now, six-and-a-half years later, the government has been asked to reopen its investigation into the disappearance of Miss Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Rep. Heffernan (D-NY) proposed in Washington yesterday that the Army and Navy look for possible evidence she had been forced down in the Marshall islands.

He said Miss Earhart may have been shot down or forced down by the Japanese after she had seen their "illegal operations" in the islands.

Anti-Semitic Orders Abrogated in Italy

By The Associated Press

NAPLES, Feb. 10—All anti-Semitic and other racial restrictions imposed by the Fascist regime in Italy were abrogated throughout liberated Italian territory by royal decree today.

Lt. Gen. Frank N. M. MacFarlane, deputy president of the allied control commission, said full civil and political rights were to be restored to Jews in accordance with United Nations policies against intolerance.

The decree, issued by King Vittorio Emanuele and the Badoglio government, will be enforced throughout southern Italy, Sicily and Sardinia and other Italian territory under allied control.

It annulled or repealed more than a dozen anti-semitic laws and regulations imposed by the former government of Benito Mussolini after the formation of the Rome-Berlin axis in 1938.

BATAAN RELIEF CLUB ASKS QUICK ACTION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Representatives of nationwide Bataan Relief clubs met here today to decide a course of action for the rescue of heroes of the Philippines campaign still in Japanese hands.

"We intend to make our feelings known—and those are to get the necessary ships, men and material to General MacArthur as soon as possible to get our sons and husbands back," declared Dr. V. H. Spesley, Albuquerque, N. M., dentist who founded the Bataan relief organization of his state.

"We've been told no more relief could be sent," he said, "and that means one thing get the men out themselves."

Meeting last night with a representative of the President's war relief control board, the delegates unanimously voted down a suggested resolution which would have established a "Bataan Foundation" to memorialize the victims of Japanese barbarity in the Philippines.

Several delegates declared the first thing to do was to rescue the living, not memorialize the dead.

New Contract Policy Established by WLB

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—In a move to eliminate strikes attributed by union leaders to absence of bargaining agreements, the war labor board (WLB) has laid down a new general policy calling on employers and unions to extend expiring collective bargaining contracts voluntarily pending negotiation of new agreements or final settlement of any issues in dispute.

Under the board's new policy, announced today in an opinion by Vice Chairman George W. Taylor, if the parties failed to reach an agreement voluntarily and presented the matter to the WLB, the board will order contract extensions as a matter of public policy.

Dr. Taylor's opinion, just made public, was issued in December when the board ordered extension of a contract between the National Carbon Co. and the CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers at Fostoria, O.

MANPOWER PROBLEM HITS SHIP PROGRAM

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Manpower shortage and job turnover among experienced workers threaten defeat of 1944's ship production goals, Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, told the senate military committee today.

Advocating a national service act to authorize drafting of civilian labor, Land declared:

"Voluntary methods will not secure enough new workers in the right places at the right time ... "There are not enough experienced workers to maintain 1944 schedules at the turnover continues at the present high rate."

Land said ship deliveries in January were the lowest since February, 1942. Production fell from 209 ships in December to 124 last month, he reported.

"This involves much more than manpower difficulties," Land said, "but just the same the decline, taking into consideration the other circumstances, was sharper than there was reason to expect."

Land said the greatest benefit from a national service act—sought by President Roosevelt—would be its "psychological" effect on civilians.

PRECEDENT SET IN COURT ORDER

Columbus Judge Rules Merchant Seamen Under Jurisdiction of Army.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 10—U. S. District Judge Mell G. Underwood in a decision he said was precedent-setting yesterday ruled that merchant seamen serving on vessels operated as a part of any Army supply line are subject to military jurisdiction.

The decision was given in denying a writ of habeas corpus to Jacob M. Berue of Philadelphia, a merchant seaman sentenced to seven years at hard labor by an Army court martial at Casablanca, Algeria, Jan. 11, 1943.

The sentence later was reduced to two years and Berue was confined in the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O.

The seaman was charged officially by military authorities with "provoking an incident on the high seas." Berue's petition was the writ said he struck the master of the SS Anthony Wayne while the ship was in convoy enroute from the United States to Casablanca. The seaman contended the military court lacked jurisdiction because he was a civilian and did not know when he was hired in a New York union hall that he would be assigned to a convoy vessel.

Cites Effect of Ruling

William L. Standard of New York, chief counsel for the Seamen's Union of America, who represented Berue, contended that refusal of the court to grant the writ would in effect place some 250,000 civilian seamen under military jurisdiction.

Judge Underwood, in delivering his opinion, commented that ordinarily ships are not under Army jurisdiction, but the peculiar circumstances under which the Anthony Wayne was operating at the time placed it under jurisdiction of military authorities instead of maritime law.

He said these circumstances were that the vessel "was carrying soldiers and military supplies in convoy through seas infested by submarines to actual fighting lines of the Army."

This made the vessel a part of an "Army in the field" under the Second Article of War and it "was an actual part of an Army supply line," he declared.

Master Was Civilian

The Anthony Wayne was described as the property of the United States and operated by the Matson Navigation Co. under an agreement with the war shipping administration. The ship's master was a civilian, but there was an Army security officer aboard, the judge said.

Judge Underwood held that Berue's offense was committed when the seaman was "accompanying or serving with the Armies of the United States within the meaning and intent of the Second Article of War," which provides in part that all persons accompanying or serving with the Armies of the United States in the field are under military jurisdiction.

"The court martial convened at Casablanca had jurisdiction," Judge Underwood concluded.

SUES TO KEEP NAMES ON ELECTION LISTS

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Feb. 10 — The Trumbull county board of elections' right to strike names of service men and women from registration lists for failure to vote in a general election for two years was challenged today by County Prosecutor Paul J. Reagan.

Declaring his action is one of the first of its kind in Ohio, the prosecutor filed a petition in common pleas court asking that the election board be ordered to restore to the lists 23 names of men and women in the armed forces which were removed from registration lists.

Reagan asserted "the soldiers' civil relief act is being violated" and maintained that "federal laws supersede any Ohio statute providing for forfeiture of voters' rights."

Some Dishes To Save Points

By BETSY NEWMAN

A ham and potato scallop helps you conserve meat points and I am giving you an unusual recipe for that dish today. I . . . use . . . ham and potato . . . usually, then I plan this dish, but you can use up . . . of your boiled or baked ham and left- . . . over boiled potatoes as this recipe suggests.

MENU

Ham and Potato Scallop, Bo . . . coli, Pear Salad, Boston Brown Bread, Carrot Marmalade, Coffee or Tea

Ham and Potato Scallop

. . . diced cooked ham, . . . diced cooked . . . pepper, 3 tbsps . . . butter, . . . bread crumbs.

Arrange alternate layers of ham, celery and potatoes in greased baking dish, add season- . . . butter to white sauce and pour over the layers . . .

Pear Salad

Arrange lettuce or other greens on individual salad plates, place one or two halves of canned pear on . . . pour over them any desired salad dressing, and sprinkle a little chopped celery, cream cheese or chopped nuts on top.

Boston Brown Bread

1 c. rye flour, 1 c. cornmeal, 1 c. graham flour, 3/4 tsp. baking soda, 1 tsp. salt, . . . c. molasses, 2 c. sour milk or 1 3/4 c. sweet milk.

Blend soda and salt with flours, add molasses to milk, and stir liquids into flour mixture. Add 1c raisins if liked, and steam 3 1/2 hours. The mold should not be filled more than three-fourths full.

Carrot Marmalade

4 lb. carrots, 2 lb. sugar, 1 orange, 1 lemon, juice, and grated rind.

Wash, scrape and steam carrots until soft, then chop fine and mix with fruit and sugar. Cook gently 1 hour or until mixture is rather thick when tried on a cold dish. Seal in glass. The orange and lemon should be washed, the rinds grated or sliced fine with the pulp—seeds being removed, of course, but nothing else. The carrots need not be cooked first if you prefer to cook them raw with the fruits.

"BEST I'VE TASTED!" That's what folks say who first try corn muffins made with Flakorn. The quality ingredients assure the flavor. And precision mixing assures the same delicious result at every baking.

And for quality pie crust, be sure to use

It's Good Time To Make Cookies for Servicemen Gifts

By ALICE DENHOFF

Lard is in the news in a big way now that it has been reduced in point value. So it's time to do some baking and send that boy or girl in the armed forces a nice cake or a box of your special cookies.

Sugared Ginger Cookies

Sugared ginger cookies are guaranteed to make a big hit. The recipe given here is for 10 dozen cookies. Cream well ⅔ cup lard, and add gradually ¾ cup brown sugar, continuing to cream. Add one egg and ¾ cups molasses. Beat well. Combine and sift 3½ cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons soda, ½ teaspoon cloves, and teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger. Mix in well. Chill in refrigerator (must be thoroughly chilled in order to shape). Form into balls. Roll in sugar. Place 2 inches apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 10 to 15 minutes.

Loaf Cake Recipe

Here's a recipe for a delicious cake that will keep indefinitely (if it gets a chance to do so). To make a large loaf, cream ½ cup lard and add slowly one cup sugar, stirring constantly until sugar is all in and the mixture is smooth. Add 1½ cups milk and teaspoon vanilla or other desired flavoring, and beat for a minute. Sift in 2½ cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt slowly, stirring constantly. Reserve a little of the measured flour to flour fruit and nuts. Add ½ nutmeg, grated, ½ cup seeded raisins, ½ cup coarsely chopped nuts, ½ cup chopped or sliced citron and ¼ cup candied cherries. Fruit should be mixed.

Bake at 350 F for 45 minutes to one hour. Do not cut the cake until 24 hours old as it needs time to ripen. It should be moist. If dry, too much flour was used. There are many variations of this cake. Any combination of dried fruits or candied fruits and nuts may be made, and up to 2 cups used. For a simpler cake, use raisins alone. Sour milk or buttermilk may be used, with ½ teaspoon soda and only a teaspoon of baking powder.

Harding Has Edge Over Shelby Team

It would seem sensible enough to label Shelby's basement-dwelling Whippets as "soft touches" for the Harding High Presidents in their North Central Ohio conference game at Thomas Edison Junior High school tomorrow night.

Yes it's sensible, but at the same time, dangerous. Such a forecast could very easily backfire with a resounding boom that might ruin the forecaster's soothsaying reputation for life.

Any thought of Shelby tripping up the Prexies [illegible] say? Probably the next thing to [illegible] it but it most certainly doesn't fall in the "impossible" category. The Whippets have won only one N. C. O. game in seven starts but you can rest assured that Larry Swackhammer's proteges have salvaged sufficient prowess from such a dismal season to spring a big upset — which may occur against the Prexies tomorrow.

Tomorrow night's Harding-Whippet game, the second of the 1943-44 campaign, will start at 8 o'clock sharp. No preliminary game of any kind will be staged. Shelby is not carrying a junior varsity club to out-of-town games and Harding athletic officials have not scheduled any special intra-squad game to precede the varsity contest.

Everything in the league record books points toward a Harding victory by a slightly more than substantial margin. The Prexies slapped the Whippets, 43 to 21, Jan. 7 in a first round game and have an all-around statistical advantage.

Harding Wins Six

Harding has won six loop games while dropping one and Shelby has won one and lost a half dozen, which leaves the Whippets all to their lonesome in the N. C. O. cellar. In all games this year, the Presidents have written in seven victories and three defeats while Shelby has tabulated a two won-eight lost showing.

Harding's point total in 10 games has been 375 against 313 for the opposition. Shelby has scored only 331 while allowing the opposition 406 — including 147 points to the Ashland Hilltoppers alone. The Prexies have been the only league team to get the better of Ashland, winning 56 to 47 over the Hilltoppers in a game here three Fridays back. Shelby has been scuffed up twice by A. L. Buckner's Ashlanders, 59 to 23, and 88 to 47 in a game last Friday which saw Ashland set a new single game scoring mark for N. C. O. squads.

Shelby's solitary triumph against N. C. O. teams came against Mt. Vernon in a Jan. 1[illegible] tilt which was one of three [illegible] round competition. Score was 19 to 13 in favor of the Whippets after Mt. Vernon had blown a fairly comfortable lead in the last period. The other Shelby win was [illegible] Willard's [illegible] 31 to 16, in an early season [illegible] in December.

Shelby Has Ace

While Harding will be enjoying a pronounced "team" edge over the Whippets, Shelby will hold the upper hand in the matter of individual brilliance. Coach Swackhammer's ace-in-the-hole is Forward Bob Perman, who has out-distanced any President in the league scoring column thus far. Perman has compiled 75 points in 10 games for a 7.5 average. His biggest night oddly enough came against Ashland last week, when he ran wild for 20 points on 10 baskets and no free throws. This was near half of the entire Shelby's scoring efforts against the Hilltoppers. Perman has been forced to make most of his points the hard way season-long, having only five free points to his credit, as compared to 35 baskets. He was second high Shelby man in the first Whippet-Harding game, whipping in 12 points on six buckets. Center Herb Poland paced the Whippets with 13 in that contest.

Fritz Guy is the only Prexy who even approximates Perman's total. Junior Forward Guy has made 61 points, 41 of which have come in the last three games. Outside of Fritz, the Harding team doesn't boast of any consistently high scorer, the Prexies' main forte lying in their ability to click as a well-geared unit.

M'GUFFEY FAVORED

KENTON, O., Feb. 10—McGuffey High school cagers today moved confidently toward the Hardin county Class B basketball tournament, favored to win the meet for the first time in more than a decade. The club this week defeated an in-and-out Mt. Victory team on the latter's floor, 44 to 34.

Denison on Top After Beating B-G Falcons 71 to 55

By The Associated Press

Denison looked down from the top of the Ohio College [illegible] today, conqueror of Bowling Green's Falcons, whose only previous losses this season were two setbacks by the Great Lakes naval training station.

The Denisonians, inspired by [illegible] home floor setting, defeated Bowling Green 71 to 55 last night to [illegible] an 875 percentage [illegible] games won against the Falcons [illegible].

Denison, in winning 14 games and losing two, has scored 1160 points against opponents' 827, while Bowling Green has [illegible] 1150 points to the foes' 765 in winning 17 and losing three.

Miami university (10 won none lost) and Wilberforce (8 won one lost) have better percentage records but have played fewer games.

Denison was ahead 38 to 25 at the half in last night's contest in which Bowling Green players committed 28 personal fouls and lost five men by the ejection route. High scorer was Denison's Russell DeVette with 19 points.

Ohio Northern, after having lost six starts in the Ohio conference, beat Ashland 51 to 40 after leading only 25 to 21 at the half.

Ohio university won its eighth game in 13 starts by defeating Ohio Wesleyan 43 to 31 in a game postponed from the previous night. The Bobcats were ahead 20-15 at halftime.

Pony League Looking Ahead to Good Season

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 10—Directors of the Class D pony baseball league meet today to admit Erie and Bradford, Pa., increasing the membership to eight teams for the second time in its six-year history.

The class D pony "is certain to go and have a big season" in 1944, League President Robert C. Stedler said. "Only a stoppage order from government officials can prevent it."

The non-operative Middle-Atlantic league granted Erie permission to join the pony. Teams now in the circuit are Jamestown, Wellsville, Batavia, Hornell, Olean and Lockport, all in New York.

Jack Sanford, playing manager of Jamestown last season, will replace Tony Lazzeri as manager of the Wilkes-Barre Barons of the Eastern Baseball league.

Damascus is believed to be the oldest city in the world still inhabited.

Suppose The War Ends

NOTES FROM THE CLUBHOUSE

WITH AP SPORTS WRITERS

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Feature Writer

DALLAS — Wishful thinking perhaps, but should the war end before another gridiron season rolls around just imagine what 1944 would produce!

The Southwest Conference is a criterion and here's an opinion gleaned from it as to national college football:

It would be the greatest season of all time. Any team that went through it undefeated would rank as the mightiest in history.

Take the Southwest Conference program. Meanwhile, youngsters were developed into varsity performers.

Many of its football stars played the game in 1943 but at other schools and in the naval training which has a rule placing everything in status quo—that is, when the war is over it will take up just where it left off.

Say the war ends before next fall. Think of the great football players who would be coming home to resume their college careers!

For instance, there's the University of Texas: Spot Collins, Jack Sachse, Harold Fischer, Les Proctor, Ken Matthews, Jackie Field, Audrey Gill.

Then take Rice: Fred Jacob, Pete Sultis, Vincent Buckley, Windell Williams, Virgil Eikenberg, Weldon Humble, Bill Backburn.

And Southern Methodist: Tom Dean, Sid Halliday, Abel Gonzales, Ray Rasor, Red Maley.

And down the line—some of the finest football players in conference history who have another season behind them not counting on their eligibility at the schools where they performed in 1942.

Now, imagine Texas A. and M.: it had a good team made up of freshmen. It probably was the best freshman team in the college's history. Add to those fellows the returning varsity men of 1942! Yum, yum.

Think about Hardin-Simmons and Texas Tech of the Border Conference. Camp Wilson, who played with Tulsa's Sugar Bowl team, would be a sophomore at Hardin-Simmons. Rudolph (Little Doc) Mobley, who set a national ground-gaining record season before last, would be a junior.

J. R. Calahan, who sparked Texas to the Southwest Conference championship, would have another season at Texas Tech.

And behind all those fellows would be a year of rigid training in the armed services. Why, putting those guys on the field would be like matching a couple of freight trains.

Man, oh man!

IRISH-BRED HORSE IS WIDENER PROSPECT

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 10—The mystery horse of the winter is the Irish-bred Princequillo, whose unorthodox training methods have thrown the clockers at Hialeah into a dither.

The 126-pound top-weighted candidate for the $25,000 Widener handicap, which wraps up the Hialeah season March 4, gallops daily around the track but he runs for the fun of it and rival trainers have had no opportunity to check his speed.

Horatio Luro of the Boone hall plantation stables is responsible for the general bewilderment. He has decreed a regime of lazy lopes for the sleek bay four-year-old that crossed the Atlantic to become the "story book" horse of 1943.

Luro indicated he was seriously after the richest winter purse when he announced this week that Conn McCreary, the star jockey who booted Princequillo home in several big stakes last year, would ride him in the mile and a quarter widener.

Luro followed the same plan of easy conditioning for Princequillo at the New York tracks. He proved he was right when the son of Prince Rose and Cosquilla swept the Saratoga cup, the Saratoga handicap and the Jockey club gold cup.

Princequillo is a possible starter in the $7,500 McLennan handicap Feb. 19, third richest purse at Hialeah and a widener preview.

FIGHT CROWD TOLD HOW JUDGES VOTED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—The New York State Athletic commission has started a boxing innovation that soon may become a universal practice—that of announcing from the ring how each judge voted.

The idea was tried out last night in Madison Square Garden at the Tippy Larkin-Lulu Costantino 10-rounder which Larkin, a 13 to 5 favorite, won easily. After announcer George Kobb had reeled off over the public address system how each official voted, everyone asked his neighbor how he liked it.

It was the general opinion among ringsiders that it was a good thing. Several pointed out each official would tend to be extra careful.

The fight itself was one-sided with Larkin entertaining the crowd of 11,535 (gross gate $31,914) by using Costantino as an animated punching bag. Judge Joe Agnello gave Costantino only one round and Judge Sam Robinson gave him two. Referee Arthur Susskind (Young Otto) gave Larkin nine and called one even. The Associated Press gave Larkin eight, Costantino one and one round even.

Larkin forfeited a $1,000 bond by failing to make 137 pounds, held a four-weight advantage at 139¾ pounds. He is in line for a possible March 10 bout with Allie Stolz of Newark, N. J.

County Teams Reverse Form

The second round standings in the Marion county men's basketball league shows a big reversal in the leaders from the first round. Many of the 'potentially good' teams of the first round who never could quite come through are proving to be really strong in the second round. The equality of the teams is shown by the fact that three of the first four teams have only one defeat and the fourth is undefeated. Cooler who defends last year's championship and winners of the 1943-44 first round is now in fifth place with two defeats and two wins. Kirkpatrick and Waldo have improved greatly over their first round form and have each earned a tie for second place by wins over such teams as Huber, Local 1947, and Cooler.

In the Women's League Fairfield and Huber have both challenged the fast traveling Caledonia girls. Both Fairfield and Huber defeated Caledonia in their last encounters resulting in Fairfield stepping into first place with a one point lead over [illegible] Caledonia team by one [illegible] Huber is only one point [illegible] Caledonia.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—One of the navy's well-informed scuttle-butts produces the report that nine baseball players are being transferred from the Norfolk naval training station to Treasure island near San Francisco and that Great Lakes may feel the pinch next . . . Norfolk hasn't confirmed the story, but it may be significant that a manpower survey was made there last week with the idea of "streamlining" shore personnel.

Ensign Bill Scheerer, Oklahoma's new baseball coach, must have had his training under some good football moaner . . . Realizing that some of his athletes will be bound by the Navy 48-hour travel rule, Bill noted that next spring's schedule calls for a game against Charley Gelbert's Norman Navy team (including such stars as Johnny Rizzo, Al Benton and Johnny Bestudik) at Skyjacket park . . . That's just two miles from the Oklahoma campus, but Scheerer moaned, "how're we gonna git 'em out in 48 hours?"

In the course of playing hockey games at Detroit since Christmas, 1942, the New York Rangers have suffered the following serious injuries: Phil Watson, broken finger; Gord Davidson, bad facial cut; Alf Pike, shoulder separation; Jimmy Franks, fractured wrist; Grant Warwick, fractured skull; Ab Demarco, two broken toes, and Ken McCauley, bruises and lacerations . . . But what really makes the Rangers mad is the way the Red Wings "poured it on" for scores of 15-0 and 12-2 on their last two visits.

Texas Open Tourney Draws Best in Golf

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 10—This 23-year-old Texas open golf tournament isn't the distinctive thing it used to be, but it has character.

Time was, the $5,000 prizes were the richest in the golfing realm and it's barely possible that is why the top-ranking players in the country became accustomed to competing here each year. Whatever the reason, they keep coming back.

More than 225 players, including almost all the experts you would expect to read about are here. Firing in the main does not begin until tomorrow.

Duration National Open Champion Craig Wood, former titlist Byron Nelson and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, top money winner of the winter swing who has taken six of nine major tournaments, head the array of talent.

There were five former champions: Nelson, Dutch Harrison, Melvin Harbert, Joe Kirkwood and Abe Espinosa.

BOWLING RESULTS

Applegett Sets New Highs with 274 Single, 680 Series; Little Bowls 268, Sechrist an All-200 Series.

Marion league bowlers were given two new marks to shoot at when W. P. "Hap" Applegett unwound for a 1943-44 season high of 274 in the single game department and a 680 series during the weekly session of the crack Men's All-Star loop at the Marion Recreation Center Tuesday night. K. Little, Marion Steam Shovel leaguer, also was in the kegling groove Tuesday as he rolled a 268 line and 636 three-game total at the Palace Recreation. Steinmetz was in the Army Air league lime-light at the Palace with his pace-setting 224 game and 548 series.

Applegett's 274 count, only 26 pins shy of the perfect game, was marked up in the opening line of his series. He recorded 191 for the middle and ended with a 215 third score to amass his 680 series. Little had a 211 second game but slipped to 157 in his third attempt.

Most consistent bowler on the Tuesday night firing line was Sechrist of the All-Star circuit, who posted single counts of 200, 207, and 200, in that order for a 607 series. Other 200-or-better games in the All-Star league were Norris 205, Greenland 220, Mounts 236, Lockstead 200, Chapman 212, Barber 203, Yazel 203, and Coss 208.

In the Shovel league the following double century games trailed Little's leading score: Montgomery 205, Anderson 202, Eikenbary 201, Walters 209.

Edison and Vernon Meet in Jr. High Loop

Thomas A. Edison's cagers, who assumed the leadership in the city junior high school league with a 29 to 16 victory over Central last week, will endeavor to stay on top when they meet Vernon Heights' up-and-coming quintet on the Vernon floor tonight. Tentative starting time for the varsity game is 8 o'clock. A reserve preliminary is set for 7.

The first time the to teams clashed, Edison was triumphant, 40 to 39, on a last-minute basket by Guard Ralston. The two have one more 1944 meeting after tonight's encounter, their March 3 game winding up the junior high season.

THIS IS NO AFTER DINNER SPEECH

Have you ever been to a banquet, where the food was tasty and delicious? Isn't it disgusting when they bring forth the speakers?

I'll demonstrate what I mean. Mr. So and So rises, clears his throat, "h-h-hrmph!" Then he continues, "This gathering reminds me of a story." Then he relates a story that you've heard before. It was bad the first time, but now you know "it's one that came over on the Mayflower."

Here is a story that don't disgust or bore you. It's the story about the amazing little want ad. It gets results and costs so little.

Indulge in the fruits of its harvest.

ly but steadily our men have forged a trail through the mountains to encircle the town." Units of the Fifth Army have been fighting in the town itself.

Since the landing in Italy at Salerno last September, Patterson said, casualties to the American element of the Fifth Army have been 3,707 killed, 16,150 wounded and 5,448 missing—a total of 25,665.

Turning to the war in the Pacific, Patterson said the comparatively inexpensive nature of our victory in the Kwajalein atoll was due "mainly to the long-continued and exceptionally heavy naval bombardment of the Japanese positions."

He estimated "perhaps 60 per cent of the Japanese who were killed on the chief Kwajalein islets died during air and naval bombardment before the landings."

The Army's Seventh division, Patterson said, had 157 killed, 712 wounded and 17 missing in taking Kwajalein island. The original Japanese force in the area occupied by the Seventh division, he stated, "amounted to almost 5,000 men, most of whom were killed."

TIMID BUYING PROP TO RAILS

Numerous Other Leaders Are Unable To Find Support in Market.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10—Timid buying continued to prop rails and others scattered stock market favorites today but many leaders still were unable to attract worthwhile support.

Customers with cash for speculation or investment again inclined to keep relatively liquid because of the possibility of a fairly early European invasion. There was the feeling also that demand has been insufficient to absorb liquidation even of the lightest sort except in railway and specialty issues.

Prices failed to establish a real direction near the fourth hour. Dealings were sluggish throughout.

Ahead most of the time were Southern Pacific, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, and International Harvester. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, Anaconda, Douglas Aircraft, Montgomery Ward and U. S. and foreign securities.

U. S. and Britain Act To Split Nazis from Friends on Continent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—Diplomatic preparations for the invasion of Europe appear to be in full swing in Washington and London, now with South France, Italy and Finland as focal points of developing allied foreign policy.

The objective is twofold—to split off Nazi satellites as much outside support as possible and to pave the way for invading forces striking from both north and south.

Expected developments include:

France—[illegible] recognition of the authority of the French national committee of liberation at Algiers which will assure its right to govern liberated areas of France until normal civil machinery can be set up.

Italy—Reconsideration of the question of keeping King Vittorio Emanuele in power, a step which may result in his getting out before allied armies reach Rome; also expansion of territory in south Italy under jurisdiction of the Italian government.

Spain—Close observation of means the Franco government employs to make good its announced intention of maintaining "strict neutrality."

Finland—Use of diplomatic measures in conjunction with Russian military actions, such as the recent bombings of Helsinki, to get Finland out of the war. Some authorities believe it still is not too late for the Finns to make peace with Russia and Britain and preserve their territorial integrity.

A change in the American policy toward the French committee, headed by General Charles DeGaulle, was foreshadowed by disclosure yesterday that the subject is under consideration by President Roosevelt and the war department.

Recognition by London and Washington of the committee's right to exercise initial authority over liberated areas in France is expected to facilitate both military collaboration with French forces outside France and underground forces inside.

The French situation presents some problems similar to those in Italy, since as the armies move forward some control must be provided for areas to the rear. In Italy this control has been exercised to date by Marshal Badoglio in the name of the king.

Considerable opposition to continuing the king in power has developed, however, and it is now known the United States no longer feels it desirable to insist on his remaining.

EFFORT BY GRAINS TO ADVANCE FAILS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 10—Grains made an attempt to advance during the early part of the session today, but the markets' strength soon faded and prices drifted back to around previous closing levels. A good part of the early demand in wheat and rye appeared to be covering by previous shortsellers.

A report that some acreage seeded to wheat in Kansas still had not germinated gave the market some support, as did heavy snows in parts of the mid-west. It felt snows would result in an increased demand for grain as a livestock feed. Offerings of corn from the country were fairly large, being placed at 130,000 bushels.

AIR RAID

ducted 10 major operations against the continent in the last 12 days.

The Marauders hammered at Nazi installations in northern France for the third straight day after flying 550 sorties in 48 hours without a single loss.

The extended daylight sweeps across the channel began immediately after RAF Mosquito bombers ranged over unspecified targets in the western reich last night for their sixth penetration of Germany this month.

Heavy Fighter Cover

The new Marauder attack was made under the cover of an umbrella of RAF Spitfire fighters. It followed yesterday's highly-successful surprise Marauder attack on railway installations at Tergnier, France, a target which took them 100 miles inland for the longest trip in the history of their European operations.

The weather was clear and cold, but a half gale was blowing over the channel.

The Mosquito raid on Germany last night was the eighth night attack on the reich by the fleet plywood bombers this month. One plane failed to return.

The air ministry also disclosed allied planes flew almost 1,000 sorties over France yesterday with a total loss of one British plane.

More than 200 American Marauders took part in these raids, during which two enemy planes were destroyed.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I KNEW better than to question Crump's dictum. That the request had something to do with Marion sitting disguised at another table, ostensibly a free woman, but really under the guard of the gangsters with her, I was sure. Resolved to make the gesture for which he had asked a convincing one, I gave a loud little exclamation of pretended pain and sprang to my feet, pushing back my chair with a petulant gesture as I did so.

Wants Chair

"There is a nail or something sharp in that chair," I said. "Will you please bring me another one at once?"

"But certainly, Madame," Crump said in most approved fashion. "I am so sorry."

He whisked the chair away, produced another immediately and put me into it with deferential ceremony. But during the second's interval, I had kept my eyes on Marion, who to all appearances shared only the idle curiosity with which the others at her table were watching the incident and though I could not see her eyes, I noticed the sudden lighting of her face, the tenseness of her body as she looked at me. Then, as I settled into my chair, she slumped listlessly into hers, as if she had lost interest in my bizarre interruption of the restaurant routine.

"Please pretend that I am apologizing for the chair," Crump murmured, and say "It is nothing," several times as I talk."

Responds

"It is nothing," I said promptly., and Crump made a deferential bow.

"Please drop your napkin," he murmured next "and watch closely.

I obeyed him, and when he took it hastily away, bringing me a fresh one, I knew what was coming. Crushing the napkin in my hand, I felt the crackle of paper, and beneath the table, first being sure that Milner's eyes were elsewhere, I took the scrap of paper out and palmed it.

"Please excuse me," I told Mary and the rest. "I'm going to the powder room. I'm sure my blouse and skirt are parting company."

"Need any help?" Mary asked with apparent solicitude, although I was sure her keen brain had surmised something very close to the truth."

"No, indeed," I said carelessly, rising and making my way to the rear of the restaurant. Then, in the solitude of the temporarily deserted powder room, I opened the scrap of paper and with a choke in my throat read the few words it contained.

Marion's Note

"Kind Mr. Waiter:" it said, "I know my friends are here. I've received their signals. But they'll be disguised, I know. Will you have Mrs. Graham stand up at her table when you're serving her, so I'll know where she is. I'll run to her as soon as I dare. Show her this please, and thank you."

Once more I saluted the intuition, the resourcefulness and the courage of Lillian's daughter. She must have read our personals in the newspapers and written this note so as to be ready for any emergency. Where or how she had secreted it until she was able to slip it into Crump's hands, I of course did not know. But she had succeeded in eluding the vigilance of her guards in this instance, and she now knew my identity beneath my disguise as I did hers. She knew her mother's also, but she had said she would "run to me," because she knew that the gangsters were trying to trap her mother, and she reasoned correctly that she had better stay away from Lillian.

With my heart singing, although there was still a lurking fear deep within me like a coiled snake—a fear that something, somewhere, might go wrong—I went back to the table, and over the hot soup, Crump assiduously brought me instead of my first bowl, I gave them a stern warning.

Heartening

"None of you is to turn even an eyelash toward Marion's table, as I talk," I said. "And now, I'll tell you something heartening. Marion knows where we're sitting. She has identified me, and she will run to me at the first opportunity. Be sure that you are on your toes to see that nobody hostile gets near her."

Ronald said what I had expected to hear from him:

"Only over my dead body will anybody touch her," he said, and I gave him a smiling nod in tribute to what in other circumstances would have been melodrama, but which, in the present crisis, I knew was the course Ronald—and the rest of us, for that matter—would pursue.

And then, from the table where Marion sat, I heard a masculine voice growl. There is no other word to describe the sound:

"Do you know those birds over at the next table?" The man demanded "Speak up, or it will be just too bad for you."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Diseases of Musicians

The medical mind sometimes lights on peculiar subjects to study. I have been glancing at a treatise on "The Diseases of Musicians," by Dr. Kurt Singer, which is full of lore. (It is not a recent publication, so you will probably ask your bookseller for it in vain.)

Dr. Singer starts out with the nervous and almost mental disorders of musicians, and here he outlines some principles which apply to all those queer gentry who work in the arts whether painting, music or writing. He says that they are inevitably unhappy, or at least dissatisfied and tend to become neurotic. And the reason is not far to seek. However much you may admire a piece of creative composition, the artist is always dissatisfied because he knows the chasm that separates his own first conception of it, the inspiration, with the reality.

His ideals are never realized. His reach, as Browning put it, exceeds his grasp. This makes for the queer, nervous, impractical, morose individual the plodding world of "practical" men sees, and almost invariably makes fun of and despises. Another thing that excites the derision of the world which is nevertheless an inevitable fact is that among the highly talented (and even among geniuses) the "men seem to have feminine traits and the women masculine."

Dr. Singer thinks musicians are unhappy people to be with. But my experience is that musicians and painters are comparatively happy and normal. Partly, I think, because they do their work or see their work appreciated in public, surrounded by other people. The writer in the throes of creation is alone. He is appreciated by solitary and temporarily silent readers. If you really want to contact some first rate dyed in the wool concentrated neurotics cultivate the literary set. And, for heaven's sake, never let any of your loved ones marry a writer or, in fact, make a friendship with one, or if you can help it don't try to meet one. Oh! if you yearn to be insulted! Or made fun of! Or if you want to lend money!

Dr. Singer, however, leaves the field of temperament and gets down to material things about his musicians. The cause of their difficulties seems to be basically the amount of practice they have to do. The repeated demands of the same movements on the same muscles and tendons and bones inevitably affects them to the point of exhaustion so we have pianists' cramps and violinists' cramps. Robert Schumann ruined his concert career by practicing with some of his fingers bound so the others could have free play. These professional cramps differ in no way from writer's cramp. Dr. Singer treats them by psychotherapy, electrotherapy, binding a tourniquet around the arm for a short interval, etc.

Other Diseases of Musicians

Violinists also have finger warts and pain in the neck and chin from contact with the violin rests.

I take a certain grim satisfaction in knowing that flutists and trombone players have occupational diseases. Trombone players, I can not help but be pleased to report, get air into their salivary ducts blowing up the cheeks and have a heck of a time. They all get eczema of the lips and leukoplakia of the tongue and emphysema (dilatation of the air spaces of the lungs) and clock-like tickings in the ear. And best of all the only method of cure lies in complete abstention from the use of the instrument!

Answer: Piles in 95% of cases. Benign polyp tumours 4% and cancer one per cent.
